Course Description

This course provides an introduction to physical geography: the study of the Earth's natural environments. The course starts with the principles and mechanisms of climate and weather, and then surveys landforms and earth surface processes. The final section of the class examines vegetation and ecosystems on global and regional scales. Throughout the course we use specific regional examples to illustrate and understand global processes. We give special attention to global environmental problems such as “greenhouse” warming and climatic change, the stratospheric ozone layer, the El Niño/La Niña oceanic-atmospheric circulation pattern, tropical storms and other extreme weather events, and the nature and distribution of volcanoes and earthquakes. The course is designed to be both challenging and interesting. It provides essential background for further study in meteorology, climatology, hydrology, ecology, biogeography, geology and physical geography.

Course Policies

Class Attendance and On-time Appearance

Attendance during the lectures is essential to your general success in class. Excessive lateness disturbs everyone else – please appear on time. You should have your breakfast before class.

Disability Modifications

The University of Montana assures equal access to instruction through collaboration between students with disabilities, instructors, and Disability Services for Students. If you think you may have a disability adversely affecting your academic performance, and you have not already registered with Disability Services, please contact Disability Services in Lommasson Center 154 or call 406.243.2243. I will work with you and Disability Services to provide an appropriate modification.

Academic Integrity

“All students must practice academic honesty. Academic misconduct is subject to an academic penalty by the course instructor and/or a disciplinary sanction by the University. All students need to be familiar with the Student Conduct Code. The Code is available for review online at:
http://life.umt.edu/vpsa/student_conduct.php.”

Readings, Assignments, and Examinations

Readings

The following reading is required:

Foresman, T. & A. Strahler (2012): Visualizing Physical Geography. – Wiley, Chichester, 624 pages.

Additional Course Material

If necessary, additional course material will be made available online through Moodle after the lectures in class. Download and use these resources for your studies in preparation for assignments and exams.

Assignments

Together with a partner you will work on six assignments. Assignments have to be handed in before the lecturing starts on the due date. No late work will be accepted. There is no extra credit.

Examinations

All three exams will take place in the classroom. They are subjective, not comprehensive; this means that the exam will encompass only the material that is covered in lectures and discussions between exams. In general, each examination will be a combination of multiple choice. The rules for the examinations are as follows:

1. You will take each exam as scheduled. Make-up exams are not allowed—except as listed in the Make-up exam policy below.
2. Material for the exam will be from the required textbook and other readings and all other distributed material. Attendance for each lecture is recommended in order that you take notes for each exam.
3. Make-up Exam Policy:
 - All Students must take the final exam as scheduled. Conflicts must be settled with the Dean. This is University Policy and there are no exceptions.
 - All Students must take each exam as scheduled. If an exam is missed, the student will receive a zero (0) on the exam.
 - These are the only exceptions that will warrant a make-up exam: university events—such as sporting or music events; military obligations; religious holidays; serious family emergency; medical emergencies or serious illness; court-imposed legal obligations such as subpoenas or jury duty; serious weather conditions; special curricular requirements such as judging trips or field trips.
 - Any student requiring an exception under this policy must do so prior to the scheduled exam—unless in the case of an actual emergency (sudden hospitalization). A student must provide official documentation of the reason for absence in advance.
 - If a make-up exam is approved. It must be completed within one week of the original exam and scheduled with the Teaching Assistant.

Discussion Sessions

The teaching assistant is available during the office hours for discussions dedicated to problem solving, clarification of challenging concepts, and work on the problem sets.

Late assignments will be penalized. An assignment that is turned in one day late will have 10% of the available points deducted from the score. An assignment that is turned in two days late will have 20% of the available points deducted from the score. No credit will be awarded for assignments that are more than two days late. "Day" denotes a business day (Monday through Friday) not the time interval between class meetings. For example, an assignment that is due on Thursday but turned in on Monday will be counted two days late.
