Several texts for this class are available for purchase at the Bookstore in the UC. Look under SPNS 494 Loisel. You may certainly buy texts from Amazon.com, etc.

I put a copy of Disparo en la catedral by Mario Bencastro and Volando bajito by Alicia Partnoy on reserve at the library.

All videos and films are on reserve at the Mansfield Library under SPNS 494 Loisel.

I will e-mail you all other texts at the appropriate time.

Course Description:
A literary exploration of the nature of human rights in the Americas through a close examination of representative literary works of various genres, such as poetry, narrative, drama, and testimonial as well as videos and films. Emphasis is placed on an understanding of content and technique within the historical, political, and philosophical context of each work/video/movie. In this way, students will explore thematic issues such as the legal and ethical rights inherent in citizenship within the world and specifically within the Americas with respect to ethnic and religious minorities, women, gays, and political dissidents. Areas of comparison/contrast will include Chile, Argentina, Guatemala, and Cuba and the United States.

Objetivos principales/resultados: El objetivo principal de los estudiantes es aprender lo que es la literatura de los derechos humanos en las Américas por medio del análisis literario de varios géneros: el drama, la poesía, la narrativa y el testimonio. Empezaremos con un estudio de la Declaración de Derechos Humanos y después estudiaríamos las raíces de las dictaduras militares. Los países de estudio incluyen Guatemala, El Salvador, Chile, Argentina y Cuba. Para llegar al fin deseado, todos van a tener que leer la tarea a fondo, trabajar cuidadosamente con el texto y absorber los datos históricos más importantes de estos períodos. Es decir que todos van a llegar a ser críticos de esta literatura, preparados para analizar de manera independiente estas obras y otras de estos géneros con respecto a su estructura, sus temas y sus técnicas literarias dentro de su período literario específico y así dentro de su contexto histórico, social, político, etc. El objetivo del profesor es enseñar: 1) los fondo históricos y culturales de cada obra; 2) las formas de cada género literario; 3) los temas más típicos como la tortura, memoria, el exilio, opresión/represión, justicia social, guerra civil, derechos humanos, etc.; y 4) la manera de analizar estas obras en específico como críticos independientes.
Announcements:
All students must practice academic honesty. Academic misconduct is subject to an academic penalty by the course instructor and/or a disciplinary sanction by the University.
All students need to be familiar with the Student Conduct Code. The Code is available for review online at http://www.umt.edu/SA/VPSA/index.cfm/page/1321

If you are a student with a disability and wish to discuss reasonable accommodations for this course, please contact me immediately via an office visit to discuss the specific course accommodations you wish to request. Please be advised that I request you to provide a letter from Disability Services for Students verifying your right to reasonable modifications. If you have not yet contacted Disability Services located in Lommasson Center 154, please do so in order to verify your disability and to coordinate your reasonable modifications. There are no make-ups for the quizzes. For any one you miss, I will substitute whatever grade you make on the “Final Project” for your missing quiz grade(s).

If you do not turn in your papers at this stated times, your grade for the paper will be zero. I will only accept a late paper if you can provide a verifiable, documented excuse. I will NOT accept any type of technical problem as an excuse. If you are sick on the day in which a paper is due, be sure to get a note from your doctor; otherwise, I cannot accept your paper.

Cell Phone Notice: You do not have to turn off your cell phone completely. You are, however, REQUIRED to put in on mute or vibrate. If your phone “rings” in any manner, (i.e. a song, etc.), I will ask you to leave class immediately. You will receive a five-point deduction from your course grade (which is only known after you complete the final exam) for each incident. In other words, should you bring your cell phone to class and it goes off and your course grade at the end of the semester is 92, I will deduct five points leaving you with an 87. Should the incident happen again, I will deduct another five points, and so on. It’s a shame that I have to do this, but there have been so many cases of cell phones going off in my class, I have decided to try to put an end to it.

Final: Thursday, May 2, from 10:10-12:10 in this classroom. Presentation of “Final Project”

Final Project: Students will organize a team formed by three or four members. They will give a presentation about a particular human rights issue in a Latin American country not covered in this class following the format of a radio or television program and role-play exercise. It will last twenty-five minutes of speaking plus five minutes of images, music, or the screening of fragments of films. Students have to choose a human rights issue from a particular historical period, and within this period or event you can concentrate on something very specific but try to convey diverse experiences or points of view. For instance, if you decide select the massacre in Tlatelolco (Mexico City of the 1960’s), you have to provide a broad historical background of that decade and then concentrate on your topic. For example, you could talk about 1960’s music, cinema, or art in Mexico City and how they were reflected in the 1968 student movement. To follow the format of a radio or television program, students should include interviews with students, politicians and ordinary people to show different perspectives. This will be a role-play exercise in which a team member plays the role of a journalist or broadcaster and others are historical actors. One member can play more than one role at different times. Students have to use their imagination to put themselves in other persons’ shoes. You can come in costume(s) as necessary! Feel free to be creative, but keep in mind that you have to prepare your presentation based on a serious and profound investigation of a wide range of sources such as academic books, literature, cinema, newspapers, journal articles, databases, images, and art. In other words, you should read and refer to various sources in order to have the necessary elements to represent and re-enact a particular situation. Students will meet periodically out of the classroom to share their findings, plan their presentation, write scripts, and rehearse. There should be a balance in the amount of time each member of the team talks and participates. Students are encouraged to present images to support their presentation. You can include a fragment of films and/or song but these should not last more than three minutes, time that will not count for the twenty-five minutes of your presentation. On the penultimate day of classes, each group will submit a final bibliography with at least ten sources to me and to all members of the class via e-mail.
