Course Description & Objectives

This course is designed to provide you with a solid background of the practices and theories of teaching a foreign language and with an understanding of how the principles of modern linguistics can be applied to language instruction.

During this class, students will explore language learning and second language acquisition theories, the role of culture and society in language learning, methodologies for teaching language, materials development and lesson planning, assessments, and strategies for teaching the major skills (reading, writing, listening, speaking).

Prerequisite Skills and Knowledge

Students should have a basic knowledge of linguistics, preferably having taken LING 270 or its equivalent.

Expected Student Learning Outcomes

- Evaluate theories of second language acquisition and explain how knowledge of these theories applies to the language classroom.
- Examine the cultural, societal and institutional contexts that affect language learning.
- Examine the role of individual learning styles in both teaching and learning.
- Identify the best language instruction approach based on the needs of learners.
- Develop lessons and evaluate materials for use in the language classroom.
- Construct effective evaluation materials to determine whether or not students are learning key linguistics concepts and developing some fluency in target language.
- Define strategies for and differences in teaching the major skill areas.

Course Materials

There is one required text for this class, available for purchase from the University of Montana Bookstore:

Teacher’s Handbook: Contextualized Language Instruction, Fourth Edition
by Judith L. Shrum, Eileen W. Glisan

Additional articles and materials will be made available for download from our online classroom in Moodle.

Participation & Grading Criteria

- Attendance: To meet attendance requirements, students must log in to the online classroom to submit assignments and/or participate in the class discussion at least two days per week for all 16 weeks of class.

- Discussion Questions (DQs) & Participation: For each unit, you will respond to two discussion questions that explore concepts found in the course readings. These discussion question responses should be between 150 and 300 words in length and show that you have read the assigned readings and can apply what you have read to the concepts and theories discussed in class.
In addition to posting two discussion question responses, you will also be required to participate in an online discussion with your classmates, jumpstarted by the discussion question responses. To meet participation requirements, you will need to post at least five (5) additional substantive messages on four (4) out of seven (7) days during the week showing that you have logged on, read through, and participated in the online discussion multiple times. Good participation posts will recognize and address the variety of perspectives and common themes in the class discussions and course readings. Substantive posts reflect course readings, acknowledge and build on the perspectives of other students and apply personal experience to core concepts.

- Wiki Updates: A wiki is a collaborative website that allows users to create and edit pages and add content. It offers users the opportunity to share knowledge and information with each other. I have set up a wiki for our class in PBworks; this is where we will collectively work on a glossary of terms and concepts for Ling 480. We will also use our wiki to share our projects, group tasks, and lessons with each other.

  Accessing PBworks: Directions for how to access and use PBworks have been sent to your email and can also be found in our online classroom in the Start Here! section.

  Vocabulary Updates: For each unit, I have created a table that we will use to create a class glossary of key terms from course readings and other relevant materials. Each student will be asked to add two original vocabulary terms to the table and then provide a definition and example. The definitions and examples can come from the readings or other materials. Students are also encouraged to add links to relevant websites, upload related documents, provide video or audio links, and use other multimedia to define/exemplify the concepts. You can access our PBworks class page through Moodle or through https://umontanaenglishlanguageinstruction.pbworks.com.

- Classroom Observation Assignment: The classroom observation assignment will be completed in three stages: a proposal, a signed permission form, and the final report. In Unit 1, you will submit a one-page proposal that describes the population of students and type of class that you are interested in observing. In Unit 2, you will submit a signed permission form that demonstrates that you have made contact with a language instructor and have gained his or her permission to observe a class. In Unit 5, you will submit the final report describing the language class that you observed. This report will include a description of the class level and demographics, a list of the activities done in the class, and a description of the methodology or methodologies that framed these activities.

- Graduate Student Increment: Graduate students enrolled for graduate credit will need to fulfill additional requirements. Details of these additional requirements will be provided later in the semester.

- Final Paper: The final paper will be completed in three stages: a proposal, an annotated bibliography, and the final draft. In Unit 2, you will submit a one-page proposal that describes the topic you would like to address in your final paper and why this topic is of interest to you. In Unit 4, you will need to complete an annotated bibliography in preparation for the final paper, listing at least five sources you plan to use for your final project along with a brief summary of each source. During finals week, you will be submit a 5-10 page research paper on the topic approved earlier in the class. The paper should follow APA formatting guidelines and include at least five credible sources.

- Descriptions for remaining assignments can be found in our classroom in Moodle. Brief descriptions and points values for all assignments can be found in the table below:

Course Policies & Procedures

- Assignment Due Dates/Times: All individual assignments, including discussion questions, are due by 11:55 p.m. (Mountain Standard Time) on the day specified in the syllabus.

- Late Work Policy: Assignments will be accepted up to four (4) days after the original date due; however, 10% will be deducted for each additional day it is late. If you have extenuating circumstances that will interfere with completing an assignment on time, let me know before the assignment is due, so that accommodation and/or appropriate penalties can be discussed.

- Naming Assignments: Assignments may be saved in any of these file formats: Microsoft Word, RTF, or PDF. Please name your files with your last name and an abbreviated name of the assignment, like this: castillo_lessonplan.

- Formatting & Citation Guidelines: I expect all assignments to be submitted free of errors and following American Psychological Association (APA) formatting guidelines. For an in-depth review of APA formatting and style guidelines, please visit http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/.

- Student Conduct Code: The Student Conduct Code, embodying the ideals of academic honesty, integrity, human rights and responsible citizenship, governs all student conduct at The University of Montana-Missoula. You are expected to adhere to this code.

  It is also expected that each student will help foster a collegial learning environment by sharing his or her experiential and academic knowledge and practices, as well as respectfully listening to the viewpoints of others and following basic netiquette rules. You are expected to complete all reading assignments so that you can discuss them intelligently in discussion forums, individual assignments, and small group (collaborative) assignments.

- Course Accommodations Statement (DDS): Students with disabilities will receive reasonable accommodations in this online course. To request course modifications, please contact me as soon as possible. I will work with you and Disability Services in the accommodation process. For more information, visit the Disability Services website or call (406) 243-2243 (Voice/Text).
• Technical Requirements: Content in some modules includes PDF files, Microsoft Word Documents, and external links (links that take you to web sites outside of Moodle).
