COURSE DESCRIPTION
This course will critically examine the United States justice system by exploring the significance of social inequality in justice system issues, especially issues related to race, ethnicity, gender, and class. The course will follow the cycle of the justice system process, exploring first the conditions that create inequality in justice system involvement. Next, inequality in the justice system processing and correction will be examined, followed by inequality in the consequences and outcomes of justice system involvement. Issues that will be discussed in greater detail in this course include policing, mass incarceration, sentencing, and re-entry.

COURSE OBJECTIVES
• Students will identify patterns of social inequality in multiple points of the criminal justice system process.
• Students will discuss the mechanisms through which social determinants of criminal justice system involvement pattern disparities in justice system contact and involvement.
• Students will discuss stances and perspectives regarding ethical issues and debates around mass incarceration.
• Students will identify opportunities for improvement in the U.S. criminal justice system regarding social inequality.
• To develop analytic, research, and writing abilities by completing two formal papers on topics related to inequality and crime.
• To demonstrate information literacy skills, including citation methods appropriate to upper division undergraduate and post-graduate students.
• To develop the ability to respond to and incorporate criticism and advice from other students and the instructor into revised papers.

REQUIRED READINGS

We will also have a wide range of additional readings. These academic articles are intended to expose you to recent criminological research on inequality and crime.
The books are available in the campus bookstore.

MOODLE -- ADDITIONAL READINGS and IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENTS

Additional course readings and announcements will be posted on the Moodle System. I may occasionally post other material from our discussions on Moodle. You can access Moodle for this course by clicking on the Moodle link in Cyberbear, and then finding the class by my last name (Redner-Vera) or SOCI538. You may download and print assigned readings not in the main texts. Go to any computer lab on campus or print from home if you have the necessary file readers and computer programs.

OTHER REQUIRED READING:

Pegram, Kashea, Rod K. Brunson, and Anthony A. Braga. 2016. “The Doors of the Church are Now

CITATION STYLE
Students are required to use the citation style and format of the American Psychological Association (APA). It is acceptable to cite legal materials (cases, statutes, regulations, etc.) in accordance with the style specified in The Bluebook.

CLASSROOM COURTESY
You should be aware that we will discuss a number of subjects that you may find controversial. In all of our class discussions, you will be expected to be respectful toward your classmates, despite any disagreement you may have with a classmate’s ideas. In this way, we will foster an atmosphere in which each student feels comfortable presenting his or her thoughts, as well as critiquing the arguments presented by others. You should not worry that your grade will be affected if you express opinions different from what you perceive my opinions to be. Instead, focus upon using evidence and logic to present your own arguments and in critiquing the arguments of others. In following these ground rules, I expect our discussion to be lively, interesting, and intellectually challenging.

Please plan to arrive on time for all class sessions and to stay for the entire class. If you must arrive late or leave early, please notify me in advance and sit near the door so as not to disturb your classmates. Cell phones should be turned off before entering the classroom. When class begins, please put away all other materials. Laptops may not be used unless you have a documented disability that requires the use of a laptop, as these devices are distracting for other students. Finally, wait until the end of class before putting away your books. I reserve the right to revoke extra credit points earned or offered if any of the above is not followed.

ACADEMIC HONESTY
All students are responsible for maintaining the highest standards of honesty and integrity in every phase of their academic careers. A couple of examples of academic dishonesty are copying from another student’s article summaries or presenting another’s work as your own in a paper. Ensure that all resources utilized in your papers are appropriately cited. Please note that students who assist other students in academically dishonest acts are in violation of the policy of academic honesty. All students must be aware of and carefully adhere to the provisions defining and prohibiting academic misconduct in the UM Student Conduct Code. A full version is available at http://life.umt.edu/vpsa/student_conduct.php. The penalties for academic dishonesty are severe and ignorance is not an acceptable defense.

BASIC NEEDS STATEMENT
Any student who faces challenges securing food or housing, and believes that this could affect their performance in this course, is urged to contact any or all of the following campuses resources:

• Food Pantry Program
  UM offers a food pantry that students can access for emergency food. The pantry is open on Tuesdays from 9 to 2, on Fridays from 10-5. The pantry is located in UC 119 (in the former ASUM Childcare offices). Pantry staff operate several satellite food cupboards on campus (including one at Missoula College). For more information about this program, email umpantry@mso.umt.edu, visit the pantry’s website (https://www.umt.edu/uc/food-pantry/default.php) or contact the pantry on social media (@pantryUm on twitter, @UMPantry on Facebook, um_pantry on Instagram).

• ASUM Renter Center
The Renter Center has compiled a list of resources for UM students at risk of homelessness or food insecurity here: http://www.umt.edu/asum/agencies/renter-center/default.php and here: https://medium.com/griz-renter-blog.

Students can schedule an appointment with Renter Center staff to discuss their situation and receive information, support, and referrals.

- TRiO Student Support Services
  TRiO serves UM students who are low-income, first-generation college students, or have documented disabilities. TRiO services include a textbook loan program, scholarships and financial aid help, academic advising, coaching, and tutoring.

  Students can check their eligibility for TRiO services online here: http://www.umt.edu/triosss/apply.php#Eligibility.

- If you are comfortable, please come see members of the teaching team. We will do our best to help connect you with additional resources.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

1. A written letter of introduction is required of each member of the class. These provide a way for you to get to know your classmates. The letter is due in class on Thursday, August 29th. A description of the required content of the letter is posted on Moodle. The letters will be read to one another in class on that day. This assignment is worth 5 points of your course grade.

2. In addition to the textbooks, we will have a large number of additional readings associated with each topic. You are required to turn in a summary for at least 18 of the additional readings. These summaries will each be between 3/4 to 1 single-spaced pages long and typed (Times New Roman, 12 point font, 1 inch margins). In addition to the summary, you are expected to include 1 to 2 questions about the reading. At the top of the page, include the citation for the article in APA style. Summaries are due within the first five minutes of class on the day that we discuss the reading. In order to account for unexpected emergencies, absences, or poor performance, I will drop the 3 lowest summary grades. This means that 15 summaries will count toward your final grade. Summaries should identify the main points and arguments presented in the reading, along with any findings and implications. Each summary will be scored on a 2-point scale. You will earn 2 points if your summary shows excellent understanding of the reading and 1 point or less for limited or poor understanding. The summaries will be graded on both form and content.

3. Each student will write a five to seven page paper about a recent criminal event or criminal justice action (e.g., major court decision, policing activity) that relates to inequality and crime that was reported in one of the following major newspapers within the last three years: the New York Times, the Los Angeles Times, the Chicago Tribune, the Star Ledger, or the Washington Post. I will provide detailed instructions for the paper separately, however, please note that examples of inequality may refer to social class, gender, race/ethnicity, disability, age, or sexual orientation. The paper is due at the beginning of class on the due date listed in the course schedule. Papers turned in after the beginning of class will be deducted one letter grade. Papers received after class but before the end of the day (5:00 pm) will receive a maximum of half credit. Papers will not be accepted after this point. The current event paper counts for 15 points of your course grade.

4. One in-class examination will be given during the semester as scheduled on the course outline below. This exam is essay based and is worth 15 points of your course grade.

5. You will complete a literature review on a particular aspect of inequality and crime that you find interesting. This paper will be nine to eleven typed pages, not including cover page or references (Times New Roman, 12 point font, 1 inch margins, & double spaced). The topic may be something that we have covered in class, but you must move well beyond the material that we discussed. Alternately, you may research a topic that we did not discuss in class. I will provide detailed instructions for the literature review separately. A full-length rough draft of the paper is due two weeks before the final draft (5 points). Incomplete rough drafts will not be accepted. The rough draft and literature review are due at the beginning of class on each due date. Papers turned in after the beginning of class will be deducted one letter grade. Papers received after class but before the end of the day (5:00 pm) will receive a maximum of half credit. Papers will not be accepted after this point. The literature review is worth 20 points. Be prepared to submit your topic by the 4th week of class. During the final week of class, the graduate students will present the research from the literature reviews to the class. These presentations will be 15 to 20 minutes long, plus a short Q&A in which the presenter will field questions from the class.

6. Attendance and active participation of all class members is essential to the success of the course. Attendance and participation are worth 10 points of your course grade. Participation credit is based on a set of in-class exercises (dates not announced) and involvement in class through questions and discussion. These points cannot be made up. If you must miss class, you are responsible for getting notes from another student and for finding out about any announcements made during class.

EXTRA CREDIT
Extra credit opportunities are included in the course schedule listed below. All other opportunities will be given at the instructors discretion.
