Course Description
Since its origins in ancient Athens, theater has played an important role in mediating a community’s engagement with contemporary political, ethical, and social issues. In this course we will read a selection of tragedies and comedies, from the heart-wrenching to the hilarious, and consider how they reflect the political, social, and religious concerns of ancient Athens. Through these powerful ancient works we will explore timeless issues such as tyranny and democracy, gender and power, and familial, religious, and civic obligations. We will focus on close reading, text analysis, and writing.

Course Outcomes
• Use writing to learn and synthesize new concepts
• Formulate and express opinions and ideas in writing
• Compose written documents that are appropriate for a given audience or purpose
• Revise written work based on constructive feedback
• Find, evaluate, and use information effectively
• Begin to use Classics-specific writing conventions
• Demonstrate appropriate English language usage

Required Texts

• Note that additional resources and assignments will be provided online via Moodle

Course Requirements

Attendance (10%)

Attendance in class is mandatory. It is imperative to be present, engaged, and respectful for every class. Each class you will be assigned an attendance grade out of 10. Being physically present earns you 10 points. If you must miss class for a legitimate reason (e.g. illness, family emergency, or approved athletic travel), please contact me within 24 hours. Please also note that the homework schedule is subject to change. If you must be absent be sure to contact me or a classmate in order to ensure you complete the proper homework assignment.

Engaged Participation (15%)

15 % of your grade can be earned through participating in class. Each class you will be assigned a participation grade out of 10. Engaged participation includes not using phones/social media during class, sharing ideas, asking thoughtful /specific questions, actively and respectfully listening to your peers, and bringing a copy of the text to class. If I see you using technology (phone, computers, etc.) for anything unrelated to class, you will receive a zero for the day. Cell phone use and laptop multitasking in class hurt not only you, but also your peers (laptop multitasking in the classroom).

Quizzes, Worksheets, and Informal Writing Assignments (25%)

Throughout the semester there will be weekly quizzes, worksheets, and/or informal writing assignments to encourage better class discussions, comprehension of the material, improved text analysis, and improved writing. Please complete all of these in moodle before class, but also be prepared to discuss your answers in class. If discussion lags and it seems that readings have not been completed, there may be unannounced reading quizzes in class.

Short Papers (25%)

There will be three formal short papers (3-5 pages) that will focus on close textual analysis. Your papers should have one-inch margins, be double spaced, and written in Times New Roman, Garamond, or Calibri size 12 font. Papers must be submitted electronically in moodle before class. I prefer word documents, but will also accept PDF format. Further directions and a grading rubric will be distributed in advance of each paper.
Final Paper (25%)
For your final paper you will revise one of your three short papers into a longer, final paper that incorporates previous feedback (5-7 pages). Your paper should have one-inch margins, be double spaced, and written in Times New Roman, Garamond, or Calibri size 12 font. Papers must be submitted electronically in moodle before class. I prefer word documents, but will also accept PDF format. Further directions and a grading rubric will be distributed in class.

Other Information

Late Quizzes, Assignments, and Absences
If you expect to miss a class, quiz, or assignment, arrangements must be made ahead of time to make it up. If there is an unexpected emergency that results in your absence or non-completion of an assignment, you must email me within 24 hours to avoid penalties. Otherwise, a letter grade per day will be deducted your score. If you are absent from class it is your responsibility to make sure you understand that day’s material (i.e. by consulting a classmate or attending office hours). For all papers you may have an automatic 48-hour extension (i.e. I do not want to know the reason for extension), provided you email me in advance of the due date. Otherwise a letter grade will be deducted from the paper for each overdue day.

Classics-specific Resources
In addition to support for academic needs, there is also monetary support for students studying ancient Greece and Rome who are struggling to purchase materials. If you are struggling financially, The Sportula: Microgrants for Classics Students can help. You can contact them @ https://thesportula.wordpress.com/

The Asian and Asian American Classical Caucus supports, connects, mentors, and encourages Asian and Asian American scholars of Classics and the ancient Mediterranean.
The Classics and Social Justice Group is made up of scholars in the field who are working in various ways on social justice, using Classics.

The Lambda Classical Caucus is a coalition of queer Classicists, and their friends and supporters.

Pharos is a platform where you can learn about and respond to appropriations of Greco-Roman antiquity by hate groups online.

Writing and Public Speaking Center
The writing and public speaking center is an excellent resource for help with writing assignments. Please consider booking an appointment for feedback on class papers. They offer:

- one-to-one writing and public speaking tutoring (available on a by-appointment and drop-in basis)
- Guidance interpreting assignments
- Reader feedback on any communication task, including research proposals and papers, response papers, reports, literature reviews, speeches, scholarship applications, graduate school applications, thesis projects, presentations, etc.
- Help developing strategies for revision at any stage of a writing or presentation planning process
- Workshops on specific types of writing and on the various parts of a writing process

Academic Honesty
All written work submitted for this course must be your own in both content and expression. Students are responsible for complying with the UM Student Conduct Code. Possible sanctions for misconduct range from failure on an assignment to expulsion from the university. The complete code can be found on the Student Affairs webpage at UM Student Conduct Code.

Accommodations
Students with disabilities may request reasonable modifications by contacting me. The University of Montana assures equal access to instruction for students with disabilities in collaboration with instructors and Disability Services for Students, which is located in Lommasson Center 154. The University does not permit fundamental alterations of academic standards or retroactive modifications.
