Model UN Background Guides

From 2008 to 2017, I authored and co-authored 63 topic and committee background guides for the Montana Model UN High School Conference. Each year the guides were used by 30-40 UM students in the Political Science Model UN class, 350 Montana and Idaho high school students and 20 teachers who attend the Montana Model UN conference, and 200 high school students and teachers from Teton County Model UN Conference in Jackson, WY. Recent guides are posted at <http://www.cas.umt.edu/mun/hstopicg.html>.

In 2012, the MMUN guide on bioweapons was included as recommended reading in Marianne Talbot, Bioethics: An Introduction, published by Cambridge University Press. In 2013, three of the guides were used at the first International Model UN Collegiate Conference at Science Po, Rennes.

Here I list the first iteration of each guide (updates not shown).

University Service

University of Montana

Montana Model United Nations High School Conference, 2005-present

The annual, two-day conference brings 350 high school students from 18-20 Montana and Idaho high schools to campus to debate world issues.

As Faculty Co-Advisor (2014 to present with Dr. Eva-Maria Maggi), I am responsible for budgeting, fundraising ($22,000 per year), and awarding scholarships to top seniors. I assist with guest speakers, topic guides, alumni, and club-sponsored events.

As Faculty Advisor (Spring 2005 to 2014), in addition to the responsibilities above, I made country assignments, trained UM students to staff the committees, determined awards, made room and catering reservations, maintained the website, issued press releases, and conducted conference evaluations.

In Fall 2016, I organized many activities to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the MMUN High School Conference, including two public lectures, a library display, a student presentation for the H&S advisory board, an alumni event to videotape oral histories, and student, faculty, and alumni participation in the Homecoming parade.

Montana Model United Nations Traveling Team, 2005 to present

Each year a 12-student team travels to the National Model UN Conference in New York. The Team often wins individual and delegation awards.

As Faculty Co-Advisor (2014 to present, with Dr. Eva-Maria Maggi), I am responsible for budgeting and fundraising ($13,000 per year), and assist with guest speakers.

As Faculty Advisor (Spring 2005 to 2014), I also coached the Team, made travel arrangements, and issued press releases.

University of Montana Model UN Leadership Conference, 2019 to present

Working with Dr. Eva-Maria Maggi and UM's Mansfield Center to organize a summer Model UN leadership conference for Chinese high school students.
